ARAB CHIEFTAINS OUT FOR HUSSEIN'S SCALP

SEARCH FOR BANK ROBBER SUSPECT: Police from Boston and other communities line up as they join Hampton, New Hampshire, police in massive manhunt for a man police believe may be a suspect in the slaying of a Boston policeman during a hold-up on Wednesday. The man who police say may be

William M. Gilday, 40, of Amesbury, was seen entering the swamp area Wednesday evening. He is one of four suspects being sought in connection with the slaying of Boston Patrolman Walter A. Schroeder in the bank holdup. (AP Wirephoto)

800 Police Closing In Suspect In Robbery Leads Wild Chase

HAVERTHILL, Mass. (AP) — More than 800 policemen searched through the night in northeastern Massachusetts and New Hampshire for William M. Gilday, 41, of Amesbury, a June graduate of Brandeis University in Waltham, N.Y., a police said they believed the trio fled to Los Angeles Thursday.

COHO IN FREEZER

Lake Michigan's Fish Called Safe For Table

LANSING (AP)—Dr. Maurice Reizen, director of the Michigan Department of Public Health, says it is safe to eat fish from Lake Michigan. Reizen made the statement Friday, following published reports quoting him as saying he was fishing in Lake Michigan but was returning the catch to the water because of the danger of mercury contamination. "I not only catch and eat Lake Michigan fish but I now have a Coho in my freezer which I recently caught there," Dr. Reizen said. "My only reference to catching and throwing back fish was to Lake St. Clair where the mercury content in fish exceeds permissible levels."

cornered once but eluded capture after exchanging shots with police. HUNTED IN CALIFORNIA Also sought were Katherine A. Power, 20, of Denver, Colo., registered as a senior at Brandeis University in Waltham; Susan Saxe, 20, of Albany, N.Y., a June graduate of Brandeis; and Stanley R. Bond, 25, of Cambridge. Police said they believed the trio fled to Los Angeles Thursday.

Robert Valeri, 21, of Somerville, was arrested a few hours after the $26,000 robbery Wednesday of a branch office of State Street Bank and Trust Co. Patrolman Walter K. Schroeder, 41, was killed during the robbery.

Gilday, Bond and Valeri all served terms at Walpole State Prison and had been associated with Brandeis through a convicted rehabilitation program called STEP.

A Brandeis official said Miss Power and Bond had registered there this fall but "have not been on the Brandeis campus recently and apparently have severed all relationships with the campus."

Gilday was a night student at Northeastern University and Valeri had been accepted at Northeastern.

Police said ammunition and military supplies found in Miss Power's Boston apartment had been stolen in the bombing and looting of a National Guard armory at Newburyport last Sunday.

Boston Police Commissioner Edmund L. McNamara said the equipment showed a "positive link" between the robbery-slaying and "radical, revolutionary campus groups."

Patrolman's 9 Children Get Grants

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Charles I. Schottland, acting president of Brandeis University, announced Friday that each of Boston Patrolman Walter A. Schroeder's nine children will receive a four-year scholarship to the university. Schottland also said the Brandeis student body has established a fund for the slain patrolman's family.

Schroeder was fatally shot during a Boston bank holdup Wednesday, and three suspects sought were key figures at the student strike center set up at Brandeis last spring.

Guerrillas Massacred, They Claim

King Denies Cease-Fire Is Broken

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

King Hussein of Jordan formed a new government today to work for reconstruction of his strife ravaged country as Arab leaders accused him and his army of violating the new cease-fire.

Ahmed Toukan, a Palestinian who was chief of Hussein's royal court, was named prime minister. Toukan is a former deputy prime minister.

From Cairo, President Janfar el Numeiri of Sudan, who led an Arab peace mission to Amman, charged Hussein with the responsibility for the bloodshed.

Coming on the heels of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's harsh cable to Hussein early this morning, accusing him of trying to liquidate the Palestine guerrillas, Numeiri's statement appeared to demand the king's scalp in the Arab world's bitter interecine struggle.

"We tried to implement the cease-fire," Numeiri told a news conference, "but we failed because one of the parties violated the agreement." He left no doubt that in his view the violations came exclusively from the Jordanian side. Jordan said the violations were the work of die-hard Palestinian guerrillas.

Guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat flew to Cairo with Numeiri Friday night to represent the Palestinian viewpoint at a continuing meeting of Arab leaders in the Egyptian capital.

Numeiri said the Egyptian Embassy in Amman, which serves as headquarters for his delegation, was severely shelled by Jordanian artillery while the group sheltered there—despite a truce ordered by Arafat and Hussein.

"As we left for the airport to leave Amman our armored car was also shelled," Numeiri said. "Hussein himself is personally responsible for all that has happened."

Numeiri echoed Nasser's charge, declaring: "We are convinced there is a plot by the Jordanian authorities to liquidate the Palestine Liberation Organization." The organization heads the guerrilla movement.

Although Toukan, a civilian, heads the 13-man Cabinet, key defense, interior and information posts are held by military men.

POLITICAL ASYLUM

Six military officers are held over in the new Cabinet from the military government of Prime Minister Mohammed Daoud, who resigned in mysterious circumstances in Cairo earlier this week and sought political asylum in Libya. Hussein accepted the resignation of Daoud's Cabinet Friday.

It appeared the new regime would not meet guerrilla demands that the military government be abolished. It was creation of a military regime that provoked the outbreak of the civil war last week.

Hussein declared his forces had observed the cease-fire "despite endless provocations" and urged the guerrillas "to slam the door shut forever on dissension and hostility."

The Jordanian army has been standing still around Ramtha and Irbid, 50 miles north of Amman.

Soviets' Sub Base In Cuba Angers U.S.

By ROBERT A. DORKIN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — By early and stern warning, the Nixon administration is trying to discourage Moscow from building a major Soviet naval base in Cuba.

The Pentagon disclosed evidence Friday of what it said appears to be a submarine support base under construction in the harbor at Cienfuegos, possibly for use by missile-firing Polaris-type subs now positioned in the Atlantic.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said, "while we have seen activity along this line as far as Cuba is concerned, it is a little early to determine the extent of Russian naval involvement there."

UTMOST SERIOUSNESS

White House officials quickly responded by saying this country "would view the establishment of a strategic base in the Caribbean with utmost seriousness." However, no diplomatic representations have been made to Moscow.

Officials here immediately drew a parallel with the 1962 Cuban missile crisis, when President John F. Kennedy said peace in the Caribbean could be preserved if Soviet offensive weapons were removed from the area and kept out in the future.

This continues to be U.S. policy, said one White House official who declined to be quoted by name.

But it is obvious the magnitude of the new naval development in Cuba is not the same as eight years ago when Russia placed offensive missiles on the island 90 miles from the U.S. mainland.

At that time, the Soviets had no Polaris-type submarines, and the United States held a clear military balance.

Today, with 13 nuclear-powered submarines armed with 16 missiles each and 15 more under construction, the Soviets can strike deep inside the United States without the need for (See back page, sec. 1, col. 1)

SOVIET SUBMARINE BASE: Map locates Cienfuegos, Cuba, where the Pentagon Friday said the Soviet Union may be establishing a permanent support base for submarines. The harbor at Cienfuegos is about 40 miles east of the Bay of Pigs, site of an abortive 1961 invasion of American-supported Cuban exiles trying to overthrow Fidel Castro. The U.S. maintains a naval base at Guantanamo near the southeastern tip of the island. (AP Wirephoto)

Local School Boards Get The Run-Around

Who needs the State Board of Education? Nobody, if two recent examples of its handiwork are any indication of what it proposes to do for the students of Michigan.

First example is the Eaman school squabble between the districts of Benton Harbor and Coloma. And the second is the surreptitious manner in which bureaucrats in the board's employ advanced hare-brained proposals for student conduct guidelines — or rather, student misconduct guidelines.

Lionel Stacey, superintendent of Lakeshore schools, discovered the guideline proposals and called public attention to them. Powerful State Senator Charles Zollar, Benton Harbor Republican, promptly let the state board and its employees know they had better hold public hearings. Other school superintendents hopped on the bandwagon statewide. And, fortunately, it now appears guideline proposals may be dropped, or at least substantially modified.

But the Eaman school squabble is still up in the air.

Last June 23, state board voted to transfer an area commonly called the Eaman school neighborhood out of the Benton Harbor school district into the school district of Coloma. Residents of the Eaman area had earlier petitioned the Berrien County Intermediate School Board to grant the transfer but had been unanimously refused. The state board's reversal of the local board was, to say the least, surprising.

At the time of the state board vote, local voices raised the question whether the Eaman transfer meant that the state board was now going to let white suburban neighborhoods detach themselves from integrated city school districts. And since there are not only other Eaman situations on the perimeter of the Benton Harbor district, but hundreds of such situations in other districts around the state, it was demanded that the state board promptly and clearly state its guiding philosophy.

The state board, however, has since done anything but that. The squabble drags on and on. First, the state board reversed the local board. Then it agonized for weeks with the Michigan Attorney General over whether it could reconsider its action. It delayed a decisive ruling month after month until now that it appears it will be October, at the earliest before one comes, possibly not then. Just this week a trial examiner for the board popped in his findings — namely that the state board should never have voted the Eaman transfer in the first place.

There could be any one of several reasons for the board's wishywashy procrastination:

- It's fighting the issue with its own executive employees;
- It is horribly, if innocently confused; or
- The board feels it stuck its neck in the wringer by reversing the Berrien board in the first place, and is now trying to pat it back its way out.

In any of these events, the state board has not shown much ability to live up to its duties as outlined in the Michigan constitution of 1963 which created the board:

"Leadership and general supervision over all public education, including adult education and instructional programs in state institutions, except as to institutions of higher education granting baccalaureate degrees, is vested in a state board of education. It shall serve as the general planning and coordinating body for all public education including higher education, and shall advise the legislature as to the financial requirements in connection therewith."

Prior to 1963 the state board of education was a four-member elected body that had general supervision of state teachers colleges and other duties as prescribed by law. The state superintendent of public instruction then was an elective office, and the development of state educational policies was divided between the old board and the state superintendent.

The present eight-member board is elected and has responsibility for all policy development for the state education department. It appoints the state superintendent of public instruction.

It's too big a job. The very structure of the board encourages concentration of power over all education in the hands of too few people. Just yesterday in Grand Rapids, Gov. William Milliken said this: "The key to a strong local role in educational leadership is the elected school board; that control should remain in local hands. . . the institution of the school board must be strengthened if public confidence in our schools is to be restored."

The Governor could well start proving he means what he says by studying the possibility of curtailing the now awesome power and built-in procrastination of the state board of education.

DR. COLEMAN .. And Speaking Of Your Health

Advanced cirrhosis of the liver is one of the penalties paid by chronic alcoholics. There are other causes for cirrhosis that are just as dangerous because of the impairment to the function of this vital organ. Unfortunately, liver damage is rarely ever reversible even though the progression of cirrhosis can sometimes be stopped by removing the cause.

Dr. R. Benichou, of Nancy, France, has developed an ingenious technique aimed at rejuvenation and regeneration of livers with cirrhosis. This is different from Dr. Coleman's liver transplant which is being tried with only moderate success.

Dr. Benichou is actually implanting a portion of the spleen into the liver in order to increase the blood flow to this organ. He has done this procedure in 12 patients with advanced cirrhosis, and his results are being studied with great enthusiasm by surgeons all over the world. One of the great advantages of this method is that the patient's own spleen is used, and there is no problem of transplant rejection that so often makes other surgery fail.

Too little attention has been paid to a scientific report that deserves to be skywritten all over the nation. In 1959, there was not one single death from polio in children who were vaccinated against the disease.

The National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga., issued this statement that carries a vast impact of hope.

The amazing impact of this comes only when it is recalled that in 1952 there were 1,400 deaths, and more than 20,000 cases of paralysis due to this disease. If we are to maintain such startling exciting statistics, vaccination against polio must be given to every child in America. No far-removed rural community must be neglected if we are to spare a single human being the calamity of unnecessary paralysis.

As early as the tenth week of pregnancy, it is now possible to study the heart of the fetus. Dr. Paulina de Smoler, of Mexico City, has been able to obtain reliable electrocardiogram studies of the fetal heart very early in pregnancy.

One may wonder what information is obtained by this technique. Under certain circumstances throughout pregnancy, the rate and rhythm of the fetal heart becomes terribly important as a sign of health of the growing child.

Evidence of fetal distress and toxicity of pregnancy can now be recognized more readily and give the doctor greater insight into the needs of the unborn child.

The method that Dr. de Smoler uses is relatively simple because the electrodes or wires are painlessly attached to the abdominal wall of the mother. This may indeed be an important contribution to the safety of the child, and the prevention of some birth disorders.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Even in dry weather, a cane with a rubber tip can spare the elderly from accidents.

Dr. Lester Coleman has prepared a special booklet for readers of this column, "Alcoholism — A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers hopeful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed 6-cent stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., P.O. Box 5170, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10011. RELIGION TODAY

Rev. McIntire Needs Plagued By Disaster

By REV. KINSOLVING
CAPE MAY, New Jersey — The Rev. Carl McIntire, the far-right fundamentalist radio broadcaster and Howard Hughes of this resort town, has scored a major coup: South Vietnam's Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky has accepted his invitation to address a "Total Victory Rally" in Washington on October 3 — against the strong advice of Bui Diem, South Vietnam's ambassador in Washington.

The Rev. Dr. McIntire's importing of Ky — and the threat of counterdemonstrations — apparently motivated one official of the National Council of Churches (NCC) to abandon the long-standing policy that "If we ignore McIntire — he'll go away."

The Rev. Dr. Kenneth Neigh, General Secretary of the United Presbyterian Church's Board of National Missions, and an NCC vice president, held that Ky's acceptance of the McIntire invitation "clearly identifies the Saigon regime with radical right groups in the U.S.A."

Kinsolving
"Mr. McIntire is a deposed minister of my Church," noted Dr. Neigh. "He has raised funds by false promises and by maligning the integrity of the churches and their leaders. His theme for 35 years has been that these legally constituted official church organizations (NCC denominations) have been 'communist-inspired' — a charge refuted by every investigating group which pursued these claims."

(Including the FBI, disclosed Dr. Neigh, "which we discovered had placed two of its agents in the accounting department of the United Presbyterian Church headquarters. When we contacted FBI headquarters in Washington after they were discovered, we were told: 'It's all a mistake.'")

"This totally distorted hoax perpetrated upon the American public over the years by Mr. McIntire has now reached a climax," said Dr. Neigh.

Actually, Rev. Dr. McIntire, who is pastor of the Bible Presbyterian Church of Collingswood, N.J., is in sore need of a climax, after a year of disasters. He was voted out of the leadership of the American Council of Christian Churches — which he founded. His radio station WXUR, Media, Pa., had its license revoked by the FCC — the first time in history that any station has been so disciplined for violation of the FCC fairness doctrine.

Last year, he announced that U.S. Senator J. Strom Thurmond would lead 30,000 demonstrators in a "March on Trenton." The South Carolina Senator was wise enough not to show up — and neither did 28,500 of the announced number of marchers. (McIntire was enraged. He screamed at amused reporters on hand, whom he decried as "liberal press" that: "They're making fun of me! But that's all right — I've got God on my side!")

The "March on Trenton" was scheduled to protest the 19 charges filed by New Jersey' State Department of Education against McIntire's Shelton College, whose 180 students are housed in two of the hotels he bought here. The department's charges included a significant number of inadequacies, in such areas as records, financing, library and faculty as well as the failure to teach courses advertised in the catalog. (In the midst of this battle, Shelton had to fire its Academic Dean and Vice President, Richard Coulter, after the press revealed the fact that he possessed none of the five academic degrees he had listed in the catalogue. This, Coulter explained, was "all in error, an oversight — the catalogue was printed in a hurry.")

An even more embarrassing scandal erupted in 1965, regarding the affidavits filed by 15 of the Shelton girls who are housed in McIntire's Christian Admiral Hotel. The young ladies charged the manager of this hotel, Clayton Bancroft, with various instances of improper sexual conduct.

This revelation motivated the resignation of Dr. Arthur Steele as Shelton's president. "It is the only reason why I severed my relations with Shelton College," explains Dr. Steele, now the President of Florida's Clearwater Christian College.

But despite sulphuric denunciation from other fundamentalists such as the editor of the "Capital Voice of the National Bible Association," McIntire said "I cannot and will not fire this man." And Bancroft still manages the hotel.

This is understandable, since Mr. Bancroft is treasurer of McIntire's "International Christian Relief" and is reportedly the only man who knows all the details of McIntire's vast financial dealings.

The bidding:

Opening lead — jack of diamonds.

Every hand has a theoretical par that can be determined on the assumption that both pairs bid and play perfectly. Thus, the par result in this hand is four diamonds bid and made by East-West. The North-South limit is three spades, since declarer has three clubs and a spade to lose.

However, par is often missed in practice, for the players lack the advantage of seeing all 52 cards. Thus, in the present hand, it is hard for East-West to realize that they actually have the better hands and that North-South are overboard at four spades and can be profitably doubled.

Furthermore, the difficulty of achieving par extends to the defense as well as the bidding. Thus, if South maneuvers his cards cleverly enough, he has an excellent chance of stealing the contract.

The challenge comes at trick one when West leads the jack of diamonds. South should discard a heart from dummy as he wins the diamond with the ace. He then leads a spade which West wins with the ace.

The defenders are now in a position to cash three club tricks, but there is a strong probability that West, having seen declarer discard a heart from dummy at trick one, may decide that South's weak spot is hearts. He might therefore return a heart at trick three.

The heart return would be right up South's alley. He would win with the jack, draw another trump, and cash the A/K/Q of hearts, discarding two clubs from dummy. He would then concede two clubs to make four.

Of course, West might be smart enough to see through South's scheme and lead a club at trick three away from the K-J. Even so, South would get A for effort.

Books Are Booming

Contrary to some gloomy predictions, book reading is not going the way of the dodo bird.

The Frankfurt Book Fair, which opened Thursday and closes Tuesday, is displaying over 200,000 titles from 3,200 publishers located in more than 60 countries.

Books, however, have become controversial. The publicity surrounding the fair attracts rebellious students and professional disrupters. In 1967 students attacked the stands of the Union of South Africa and the display of the Springer Verlag, a German publishing empire with a strongly conservative tone. As a result, an extraordinary list of rules was established for the 1968 fair, including the banning of all political posters and promotion buttons.

The unexpected result was the escalation of violence. Uniformed, tough police with tear gas grenades and water cannon had to be brought in to quell the protests. As the protesting students began to take a bad thrashing, some publishers shut down their stands in sympathy.

Publishers, who are generally known for their reluctance to take any position, agreed that books could not flower in an atmosphere of suppression and bureaucratic regulations. A decision was made to ease the ban on demonstrations in 1969. However, because some radicals threatened to burn down the stand of one of the most reputable German publishers, Rohwolt, that firm did not attend.

The fair's traditions go back to the 15th Century. German book publishers and printers exhibited in Frankfurt soon after the invention of the printing press. The fair prospered until the Thirty Years War (1618-48), after which it was discontinued until the post-World War II era. It gained popularity in the early 1950s because foreign publishers desired to introduce books to German readers. Moreover, co-publication of books was becoming an economic necessity.

Ex-Soldier Awarded Commendation Medal

A high military honor, the Joint Service Commendation Medal, has been awarded to Henry J. Mak, 27, with his boss, Lester Tiscornia, president of Anto Specialties Manufacturing Co. subbing for army brass at the ceremony this week.

Headquarters of United States European command in England announced earlier this summer that Sp. 5 Mak was to receive the Joint Service Commendation Medal for meritorious service but final approval did not come until Mak had been discharged after spending two years in the service.

Major Donald E. Lunday of Silk Purse Control group based north of London, England, wrote Tiscornia that the award is rarely earned by an individual in the short period Mak was in England (a year). Major Lunday wrote that Mak had spoken often of his civilian job with Anto Specialties and "was proud of his association with your firm." Major Lunday asked Tiscornia to make the presentation.

The formal citation notes that: "Specialist 5 Henry J. Mak, 873-42-2888, United States Army, is awarded the Joint Service Commendation medal for meritorious service during the period June 1969 to June 1970, as an Administrative Specialist of an Airborne Battle Staff Team, UNCINCEUR's Airborne Command Post.

"Specialist Mak continually demonstrated outstanding professional competence and devotion to duty. Through his professionalism and willingness to assume additional responsibility, he contributed significantly to the maintenance of a high state of training and readiness of the Airborne Command Post. His initiative and devotion to duty were key factors in establishing and standardizing procedures of the Logistics/Material staff function supporting the Airborne Command Post.

Service reflects great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

Mak is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mak, Jr. of 2807

James street, St. Joseph. The elder Mak is a 30-year veteran at Auto Specialties. The younger Mak said his work in the service was classified.

The younger Mak graduated from St. Joseph High school in 1961 and went to work at Autos five years ago. He completed his apprenticeship as a tool and die maker before he was inducted into the service in June of 1968. He took his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and went to England a year later. He served in England a year, being discharged last June.

He and his wife, the former Arlene Bohannon of St. Joseph live at 185 Collins, Benton Harbor. The couple has a daughter, Christina.

Village Could Get Easement By Changing Zoning

Bernard Sackett, owner of Lakeshore Brick and Stone, wants to discuss a trade with the Village of Stevensville — a sewer line easement for a zoning change.

Construction of a sewer line has stopped because Sackett has refused to grant an easement on his property. Sackett said he would give an easement if the village would rezone his property from residential to industrial. He needs the change to move his business there.

Sackett stated his case in letters to Harry Gast, Lincoln township supervisor; Conrad Stampohar, Stevensville village president; Earth, Inc., contractors for the Stevensville sewage system, and the Lake Michigan Shoreline Water and Sewage treatment authority.

MATTERS 'NOT RELATED'

Gast said the two matters are not related, and added court action could be taken to condemn the property for an easement. Stampohar declined comment until the letter is taken up officially at the Oct. 1 village council meeting.

The property is owned jointly by Mr. and Mrs. Sackett and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. DeMorrow. It is located along the C&O tracks off St. Joseph drive in Stevensville. Sackett's business is now headquartered at Stevensville Lumber Co., Red Arrow highway.

Sackett charged the zoning change is being blocked by a minority of the village council and a few property owners. He has obtained counsel to seek relief, but the swap of easement for zoning would make litigation unnecessary.

Two manholes rise out of the ground to mark the route of the halted sewer line. It is designed to connect to a trunk sewer running along the railroad tracks.

'SEWER GOING NOWHERE'

Sackett calls it the sewer going nowhere.

He said in the letters: "For some years I have sought to develop this parcel for my business, which under the circumstances, considering the proximity of the railway and the general character of the area, represents an obvious reasonable use of the property."

"Because of the attitude of a minority of the Stevensville village council together with a few property owners, who insist that the property remain residential, it has become necessary for me to go to the expense of obtaining counsel to seek relief from the courts so that I will be permitted to properly develop my property without getting into any lengthy discussion of the question, suffice it to say that the whole situation is most confusing to me."

REASON FOR DENIAL

Sackett continued: "In answer to a recent request for a trailer park on similar property which likewise abuts the railway, one of the principal reasons for denial of the request was the village council resolution setting forth the fact that the presence of the railway made such property unsuitable for residential purposes."

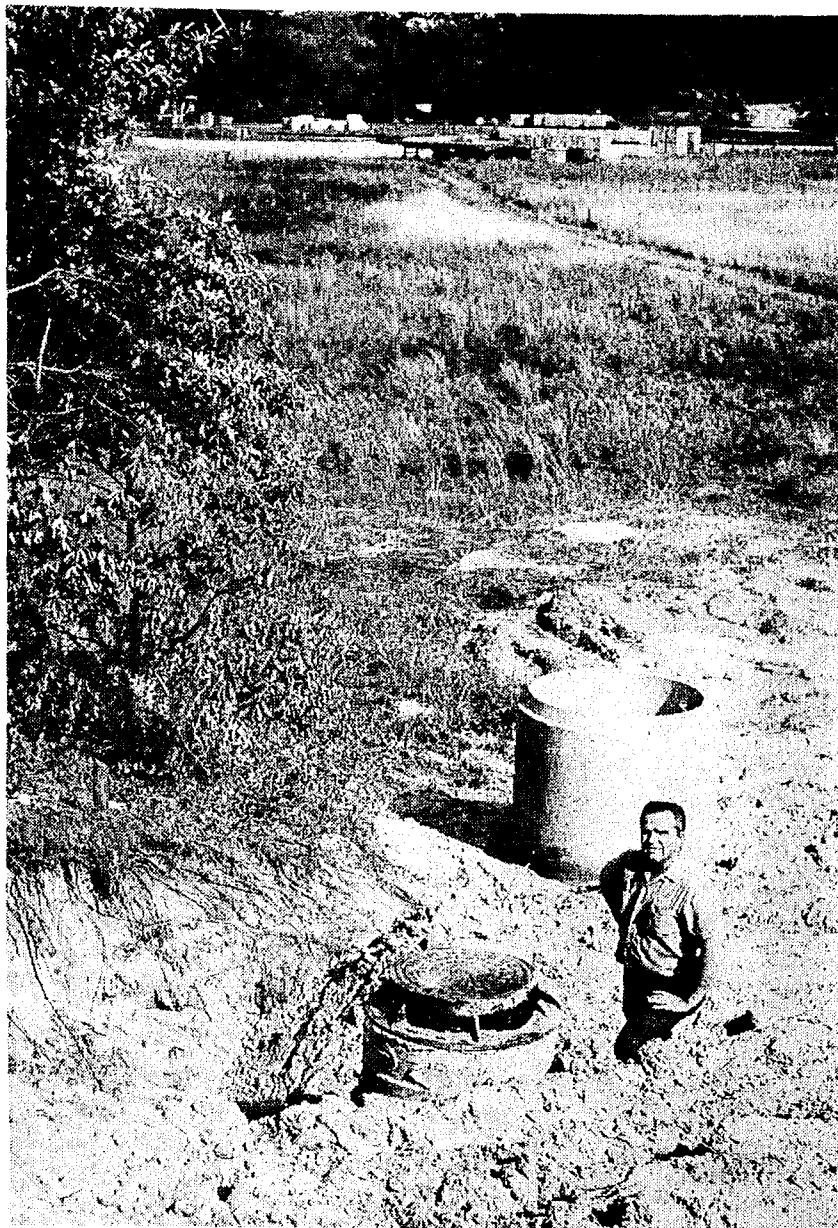

"I therefore find it quite incomprehensible that with respect to my property, the official position of the village is directly opposite, namely, that my property be used only for notwithstanding the fact that it likewise abuts the railway and notwithstanding the fact that there is a factory building in close proximity."

READY TO TALK

Sackett wrote he would be willing to give an easement for municipal purposes "but under the circumstances and in view of what I regard to be a most uncooperative attitude on the part of the village, I am reluctant to do so (give an easement)."

"If there is any way in which this matter can be resolved without the necessity of further litigation for all parties concerned, I will be very happy to sit down and discuss the matter," Sackett wrote.

Village regulations require an 80 per cent majority for passage of 20 per cent of adjoining property owners object to a shift in zoning, Sackett says. He claims a majority, but not an 80 per cent plurality.

SEWER TO NOWHERE: Bernie Sackett, owner of Lakeshore Brick and Stone, Stevensville, forbids new sewer line to cross his property without easement. He said he would be willing to discuss compromise, permitting rezoning of property to industrial so he can relocate his retail and wholesale brick business on the property, along C&O right of way off St. Joseph drive. Fierce Fire Ravages Cass Rubber Factory CASSOPOLIS — Fire raged for three hours at the Cassopolis Rubber Processing company plant Friday night, leaving a dozen employees out of work and damages estimated at a quarter million dollars.

Owners Robert Fey and Dave Miller, Elkhart, estimated damages at $150,000 to the building and contents, and $100,000 to a 100-yard long rubber compound mixing machine.

And, they said that liquid another source of the liquid rubber compound made by the destroyed machine can be 150 workers in three other Indiana plants.

The company owns other plants at Elkhart and Goshen in Indiana.

The owners said that the fire apparently started in the huge mixing machine.

Cassopolis Fire Chief Norman Barrett said the alarm was received by his department at 6 p.m. Friday. The Cassopolis crew was assisted by departments from Penn township, Edwardsburg and Dowagiac.

Firemen were forced to fight the blaze in teams working in relays to keep from being overcome by the boiling, stinking clouds of smoke that climbed hundreds of yards into the sky.

The plant is located on M-62, and traffic on this thoroughfare, made up largely of curious attracted by the billowing smoke, was tied up for two hours.

About 12 Cassopolis people worked at the burned plant. The spokesman said most of these will be laid off, at least temporarily.

NO DECISION

The spokesmen said they could make no comment on the company's plans for the Cassopolis facility, saying that at this point there was no decision on whether to rebuild, repair, or move.

The building is about 25 years old. Before it was acquired by the rubber company, the building housed a mobile home company.

Land Deals Coming Up At Coloma

COLOMA — Two land transactions are to be considered by the city commission here at a special meeting Monday night. One of the transactions involves proposed sale of the site of the city's original water well on South Church street. The other involves a request by two unidentified men to acquire land within the city.

Mayor Glenn Randall said he was to meet with the two men before the commission session to determine the location and proposed use. Rezoning of the site would probably be involved, he indicated.

City Clerk Mrs. Patricia Johnson said three persons so far have indicated interest in buying the original well site.

FIRE TRUCK ARRIVES: Coloma township board has received this new $30,000 fire truck, to be used by both the township and city of Coloma. It will be tested for a couple of weeks before being accepted for full service. It replaces as the department's number one rig an 18-year-old pumper, which will become a back-up unit in reserve. Muskegon Has Tigers' Number - - It's Zero

By JIM DeLAND

Sports Editor

MUSKEGON — Roger Chiaverini and his Muskegon football team still have Benton Harbor's number, and that number turned out to be zero again here Friday night.

The Big Reds, ranked No. 2 among Michigan's Class A teams, struck for touchdowns the first two times they had the ball and never let Benton Harbor cross the goal line at all as they launched their Lake Michigan Athletic Conference title bid with a 23-0 victory over the Tigers in their home opener at Hackley Stadium.

It was Muskegon's second straight shutout against Benton Harbor and the fourth in seven years Chiaverini has been at the helm. During that period the Big Reds have never lost to the Tigers and have rolled up six straight victories since a scoreless tie in 1964.

"I don't know... we just can't seem to get going," Benton Harbor coach Les Butgereit sighed. "I thought that was a big improvement on offense, but it's not enough. We still have a lot of work to do."

"We just can't sustain a drive," agreed line coach Dave

Zegunis, and that was the story of the game for the Tigers last night.

They gained 85 yards rushing, but a big hunk of that total came on one play — a picture-perfect bit of broken field running by quarterback Jim Grannell that advanced the ball 38 yards to the Muskegon 16-yard line early in the second quarter.

Four plays later tailback Frank Atkinson was stopped inches short of a first down, and the Tigers never got that close again.

Aside from Grannell's run, they netted only 47 yards in 31 carries — an unproductive 1.5-yard average — and added only 33 more on three pass completions.

As it turned out, the Tigers' fate was sealed in the first 12 minutes and 43 seconds when Muskegon ran off 25 plays to only four for Benton Harbor and put 16 points on the scoreboard.

Effectively attacking Benton Harbor's defensive ends and outside linebackers, the Big Reds took the opening kickoff and rolled 69 yards in 13 plays to score on a run of less than a yard by shifty halfback Brian Dorais, who then ran the identical play for the two-point conversion.

Faced with a third-and-four situation moments later at the Muskegon 39, Benton Harbor elected to gamble on fourth down rather than punt and saw the strategy backfire when Grannell was smeared for a 10-yard loss.

Muskegon again hammered it over in a sustained drive, with quarterback Bob Carlson going the final yard on a sneak up the middle and then circling left end for another two-point extra.

Benton Harbor's defense stiffened from then on, but with virtually no offensive punch at all, it turned out to be a losing battle.

The Tigers stopped Muskegon inside the Benton Harbor 10-yard line three times in the second half with the help of a fumble recovery by Dwight Meeks, a couple big stops by Staten Hines and Don Pierce and a one-on-one solo tackle by Don Schick that saved a certain touchdown.

This only complicated the offensive problems, however, giving Benton Harbor the ball twice on the four-yard line and once on the seven and the Tigers never could get out of the hole.

With time running out, they gambled again on fourth and 11, but Rodney Rhodes was stopped short at the Benton Harbor 19.

Muskegon cashed in instantly, with Carlson passing to Randy Wissner on the next play and Jeff Stewart kicking the extra point.

Dorais, a 5-8, 148-pound scabbard, proved the most effective Muskegon back with 115 yards in 14 carries while Carlson netted 61 yards in 18 tries, mostly on well executed options.

"We hit 'em hard," Butgereit said. "He (Chiaverini) told me we always hit them as hard as anyone, but tonight it was after they had made too many yards."

The loss drops Benton Harbor back to an even 1-1 for next week's LMAC game against Kalamazoo Hackett. Muskegon is 2-0 and unscathed upon so far this year.

The annual battle of the hands was considerably closer, with Bernie Kuschel's Tiger handsmen drawing a big hand from the knowledgeable Muskegon fans for a program that included That Old Black Magic, Granada, Raindrops Keep Fallin' On My Head and The Son of A Preacher Man.

Bears Overcome 15 Penalties, 21-6

St. Joe 'Flags Down' Heights

By JAKE SHUBINSKI

Staff Sports Writer

One press box observer at Dickinson Stadium Friday night figured it might be a preview of next June's Flag Day celebration.

Ray Haack, a former St. Joseph assistant coach, described the action on the field as a game of "drop the hanky."

Bears' coach Ike Muhlenkamp just shook his head in disbelief. And 2,800 St. Joseph fans went home with a red hanger.

Despite 15 penalties for a total of 145 yards, the Bears remained undefeated with a 21-6 victory over a Muskegon

Heights team that was described by assistant coach Bart

Kruse, who scouted the Tigers last week, as "vastly improved."

The Bears were penalized for just about every infraction in the book, including two straight 15-yarders in the closing minutes for having too many players on the field. Then there was one for over-lapping feet on defense.

In two games, the Bears have been penalized 27 times for a total of 280 yards but have had the ability to come back and score seven touchdowns.

The Bears hit the Heights with an early first period touchdown, then spent the rest of the first half trying to stop the Tigers' running game.

St. Joseph ran only three offensive plays the first quarter. One was a 56-yard scoring pass from quarterback Dennis Patzer to flanker Stan Watts. Dave Hedstrom made it 7-0 with the first of his three conversions with 6:45 left in the quarter.

The Bears' defensive unit then played the remainder of the period as the Heights moved from its own 31 to the St. Joseph 12 where Bob Basselman recovered the first of four Tiger fumbles on the last play of the quarter.

Muskegon, using trap plays and running at the center of the St. Joseph line, gained 60 of its 96 net yards in the first quarter.

"They were running at our power, too," said Muhlenkamp. "Some defensive technique changes and changes in personnel" held the Heights to 22 yards rushing in the final 24 minutes.

The Bears tried to gain yardage through the Muskegon beefy line during the first half, but with only 52 yards rushing to show for their efforts, the strategy was changed to end sweeps in the second half with better results.

"They hit us real hard on defense," noted Muhlenkamp, "and this No. 74 (Carl Russ, 210-pound tackle) is one of the finest players I've seen in a long time."

The Bears used the same play that resulted in a Muskegon touchdown to score one of their own in the third quarter.

In the second period, a screen pass by Patzer was intercepted by defensive end Calvin Gordon and returned 35 yards for a touchdown.

The same pass pattern worked the next time Patzer tried it for a 62-yard point-maker with Mike Damschroder taking the toss in the left flat and ending up going over on the right side of the field.

Hedstrom had to kick the extra point twice as his first attempt was nullified by an offside penalty. Then the Bears got a break when the Heights was penalized 15 yards on the kickoff for holding on Hedstrom's second attempt.

Another penalty robbed the Bears of a touchdown three plays later when off-setting infractions nullified an 18-yard TD pass to Barry Hunt. The Bears had gained possession on a fumble recovery by Lyle Ray.

Near the end of the third quarter, St. Joseph put a Muskegon punt in play on the Heights' 38 and gained 19 yards in the next four running plays.

But after a 15-yard clipping penalty, the Bears found themselves back on the Tigers' 41.

Patzer then took to the air and hit Hunt with passes of five and 23 yards to move the ball to Muskegon's 13. Damschroder then took a pitchout and, with the help of a key block by Don Radde, tallied on an end sweep.

The Bears failed to take advantage of fumble recoveries by Basselman and Wayne Shipman in the fourth quarter. They were forced to punt after Basselman's heroics and their passing game faltered at the Tigers' eight after Shipman's recovery on the 19.

"Our defense still hasn't been scored on," observed Muhlenkamp who praised linebacker Rodney Wilder for his defensive play. Radde led the team in tackles with six while Basselman had five and Shipman four.

The Bears will move into conference play next Friday when they travel to Dowagiac.

Comets Stop Cass Offense

Carlson Hurls Three TD Passes In 18-0 Win

CASSOPOLIS — Dana Carlson tossed three touchdown passes here Friday night to lead Coloma to an 18-0 win over Cassopolis.

In fact, it was Carlson's arm that highlighted an otherwise defensive game. The quarter-back hit on five of 11 passes for 118 yards to outshine the Coloma running game that gained over 300 yards in its opener against South Haven.

The Comets jet stream was stymied at 87 yards on the ground, but it was enough to stop Cass which ended up with a minus-36 yards total offense.

Both coaches praised their defenses but had little good to say about the offenses. Cass' Tom Tatrow said his Hangers "looked great on defense but broke down completely offensively. Everytime we got the ball in the first half, penalties killed us. In the second half, we didn't even have an offense."

Coloma's Bob Rakauski said his defense played "halfway decent," but that the offense was disappointing. "Our rushing game was really flat. We could get the big play with the

The Comets first score came with 5:10 left in the first quarter when Carlson hit Dave Balsis with a 57-yard bomb. Coloma's three kicks for extra points all failed.

With 6:08 remaining in the third quarter, Carlson capped a 40 yard drive by hitting Dave Vollrath with a four-yard pass in the end zone. In the fourth quarter, he connected with Stan Zech on a 33 yard TD.

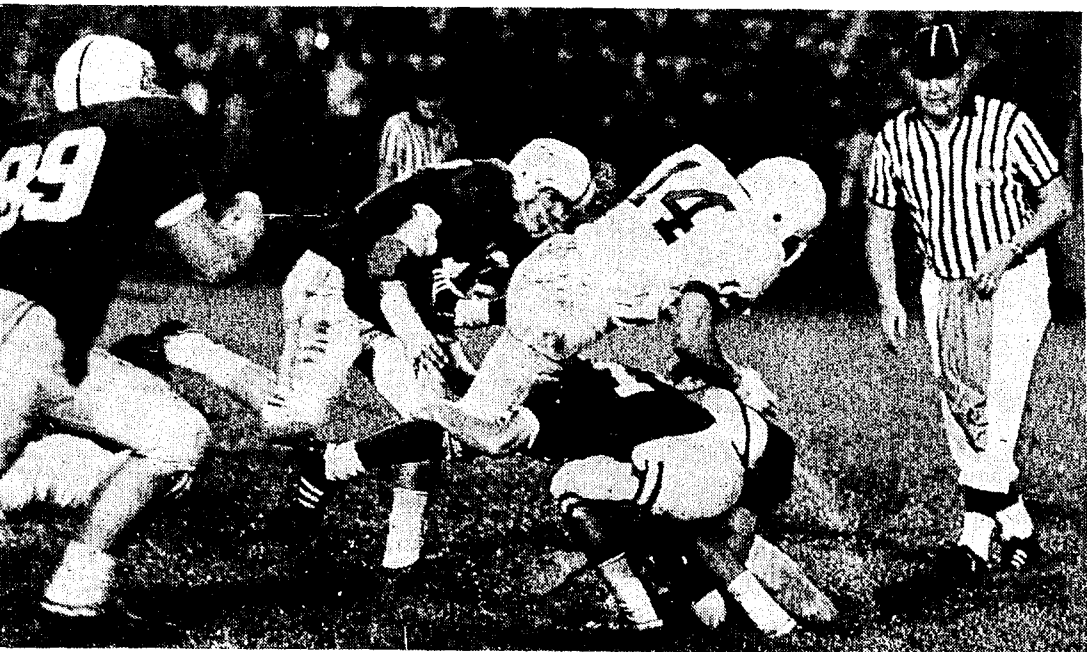

Chuck Hunsberger led the Cass defense while taking part in 20 tackles. Bill Baucum was in on 18. Tackle John Hansen and linebacker Bill Stowers were defensive standouts for Coloma.

LAKESHORE'S STILL KING OF HILL

Lancers, Block Bump Buchanan 6-0

BUCHANAN — Lakeshore is still king on the hill in the Blossomland conference.

Coach Neil McLaughlin's Lancers opened defense their Bud top story here Friday night by withstanding a determined Buchanan Bucks assault for a 6-0 victory.

It was the ninth straight conference foe Lakeshore has turned back. It was also the first Lancer shutout in 23 games dating back to a 6-0 blanking of Brandywine in 1967.

Lakeshore, now 1-1, scored in the second quarter on a four-yard run by fullback Ron Block. Buchanan never got inside the Lancer 20 in the first half, but kept the pressure on over the final two periods with costly pass interceptions, fumbles and penalties keeping the Bucks off the scoreboard.

Block, a 160-pound senior who has inherited the position left by graduated all-star Mark Tollas, looked like an all-star himself Friday night by gaining 112 yards in 30 carries as the workhorse in the Lancers' power formations.

"It's the same thing, except for a different fullback," said McLaughlin of the effective Lakeshore power set. "And Block ran it just like Tollas did."

During Lakeshore touchdown drive, which covered 78 yards in 13 plays, Block carried six times for 21 yards.

Halfback Dave Less added 16 yards in three attempts, and quarterback Scott Olmstead made his only two completions of the night to Block and end Mike Zinkil for 22 yards. A 15-yard penalty against Buchanan for piling on also helped the Lakeshore cause during the push.

Buchanan had just two first downs and a total offense of only 20 yards in the first half, but the Bucks came back to outgain Lakeshore 95 yards to 64 yards in the second half, despite being halted by three pass interceptions and a lost fumble.

Buchanan came out passing in the third quarter, and on its first two series, quarterback George Drietzler had passes picked off by Gary Gardner and Less.

After the second interception, Lakeshore gave the ball back on a fumble recovery by Buck Bob Voeman. Buchanan then mounted its best drive of the night by going 69 yards in 17 plays, only to be stopped at the Lancer five.

Mel Cashier saw action for the first time at halfback in the drive and sparked the assault by gaining 38 yards in seven carries as the Bucks got a first down at the Lancer seven.

But from this point, four running plays, including three by Cashier, gained just two yards as the stops were made by the Lancers' Bob Yauch, Gardner, Bob Nitz and Ken Bailey.

This led McLaughlin to say afterwards that "defensively this may be a little better than last year's ballclub. Those Bailey brothers hit like crazy. They get into the gaps as quick as anybody."

Lakeshore was forced to punt on the next series, and Buchanan's Harrison Vastine grabbed the kick and raced 45 yards down the left sideline to the end zone, but the touchdown was nullified by clipping penalty.

The Bucks still had the ball, but after reaching the Lakeshore 16, they lost six yards on a fumbled pitchout before Yauch intercepted another of Drietzler's passes.

"They've come a long way," added McLaughlin while savoring the victory with his players. "They wanted our type of game with ball control and a strong defense. And our pass coverage was good."

Defensive standouts with Brett and Ken Bailey were Nitz, Gardner, Yauch, Less, Dave

'Skins End Losing Streak

PAW PAW — A cycle was completed here Friday night.

The Paw Paw Redskins had lost 21 straight Wolverine conference games since beating Comstock 40-27 on Nov. 4, 1966.

The streak ended with an 18-12 victory over the same Colts almost four years later.

In a pre-season poll of conference coaches, coach Chuck Salvano's team was picked to finish in the league basement while the Colts were awarded two first place votes and finished a third place choice in the balloting.

"Our defense came through when we needed it," said a happy Salvano. Comstock, in the closing 2:40 of the game, moved from their own 40 to the Paw Paw 15.

"They were running right through us," said Salvano, "but the defense rose to the occasion" and threw the Colts for 25 yards in losses on the next three plays to save the upset.

Linebacker Steve Allen sparked the Redskins' defense with 20 tackles and intercepted a pass.

The game was less than 30 seconds old when the Redskins got on the scoreboard. Terry Collins took the kickoff at his own 1 and returned it for a touchdown.

The Colts came back to tie the score late in the period when halfback Gary Burnett went off right tackle for six yards.

Paw Paw's second quarter touchdown came on a 35-yard pass from quarterback Rick Dunlop to flanker Steve Vandermollen that came on a third-and-21 situation and ended a 60-yard drive.

The Redskins scored again in the third period for an 18-6 lead on a 40 yard loss from Dunlop to split end Dan Thompson. But it wasn't planned that way.

The pass was intended for Vandermollen, but a Comstock defender deflected the ball into Thompson's hands.

Comstock closed the gap later in the period when Syd Byrd, who led his team with 84 yards in 17 carries, sprinted 20 yards

Accused Forger Arraigned

A man arrested by Benton Harbor police Thursday night in an investigation of several forged checks demanded preliminary examination Friday in Fifth District court.

John Henry Lewis, 28, was charged with uttering and publishing a forged check for $133.45, drawn on the Inter-City bank Aug. 14. Judge Harry Laity set $2,000 bond.

Det. Elmer Rhodes said at least 30 checks averaging $125 to $150 have been cashed in the Twin City area in recent weeks. Lewis was arrested on a farm near Coloma, where he was employed as an apple picker.

In Niles, Mark Gillette, 21, of 1241 Broad street, Niles, waived examination and was bound to circuit court on a charge of larceny in a building. Judge John Iwanuk set bond at $1,000.

The following persons were penalized for misdemeanors:

Louis Lee Topash, Jr., 27, of route 1, Buchanan, $93 for shoplifting at Thompson's Supermarket, Buchanan.

Francis E. Cripps, 27, of 121 Wayne street, St. Joseph, 15 days in jail and $48 as a disorderly person.

Donald Lee Sims of 309 Shore lane, Watervliet, $43, and Draper Lee Cumbs, 40, of LaPorte, Ind., $15, both charged with assault and battery.

Keith E. Walker, 24, of 1265 Lake Wood Point, Coloma, $103 for furnishing intoxicants to minors last May 2.

Michael Hipskind, 19, of route 2, Wilson road, Coloma, $33 for possessing an altered operator's license.

Milton Banks, 31, of Town Hall road, Eau Claire, and Harold Dean Koebel, 25, of route 1, Benton Harbor, $93 each for reckless driving.

Nellie D. Base, 39, of Carmony road, Watervliet, $153 for driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Auto Talks May Be Speeded Up

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers Union and General Motors Corp. negotiators planned to talk throughout the weekend in hopes of speeding up the sluggish talks that have progressed only slightly since GM was struck Sept. 25.

Negotiations were scheduled today and Sunday.

Earl Bramblett, GM vice president for personnel, said a few minor items were resolved in Friday's sessions, but that none of the crucial issues on economic matters has been decided.

He said 84 national items have been resolved since negotiations started July 15, but 342 remain on the main bargaining table. The matters resolved deal with non-economic items such as in the skilled trades and the apprenticeship section of the contract.

Meanwhile, GM reported its local plant agreements—which supplement the national contract—have been reached at seven of 155 bargaining units. The two newest local level pacts were reached at the GM Textron Division in Hudson, Ohio, and the Detroit Chevrolet Forge Plant.

Concerning local issues, Bramblett said at bargaining time, job complaints tend to increase and get out of perspective. He said one survey—done by University of Michigan researchers for the UAW—showed that more than 80 per cent of auto workers surveyed enjoyed their work and said they were able to keep up with it.

No Arrest Yet In BH Shooting

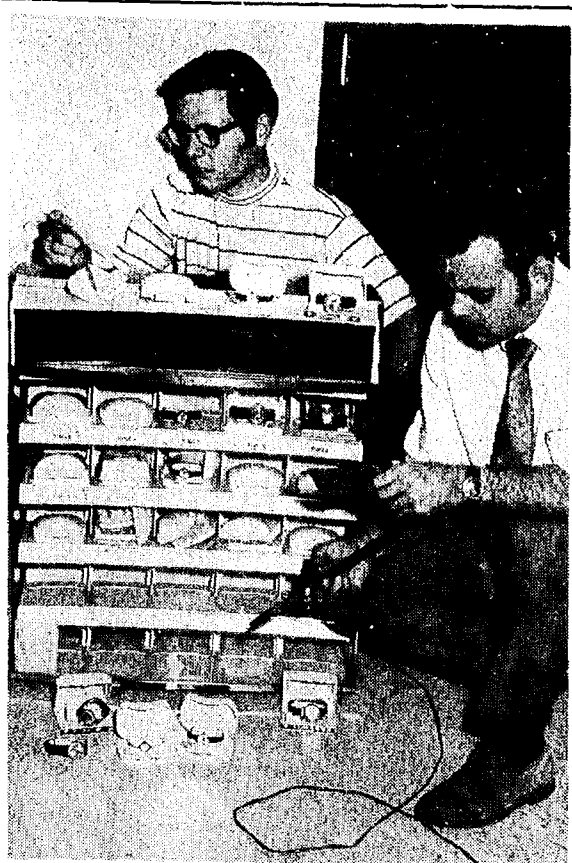

Benton Harbor police reported James Page of 405 Miller street, was shot in the right foot shortly after midnight Friday while being chased by two other men along Paw Paw avenue, near Territorial road.

Page was treated at Mercy hospital and released. Police said no arrests have been made in the shooting, pending further investigation.

However, Chief William McClaran and Lt. Lyman Keigley arrested a friend of Page's after the shooting, Jesse H. Dixon, 20, also of 405 Miller, was charged with possession of an unlicensed handgun, a conservation law violation. Police said an unloaded gun was found in a car at the hospital lot after Dixon went to check on Page's condition.

Witnesses told police that the shooting of Page followed an argument and fight involving several persons on Park street near Paw Paw.

VETERANS DAY
LANSING (AP)—Gov. William Milliken has proclaimed Nov. 11 as Veterans Day in Michigan.

Youth Held Patrolmen Foil Benton Burglary

BY HOWARD HOLMES
Staff Writer

Two Benton township policemen encountered a burglary in progress while on routine patrol early this morning and arrested a youth after a foot chase during which the officers fired five shots. No one was injured.

Recovered was a display case containing 22 watches valued at $258.95, according to Det. Charles Brooks.

Brooks and Patrolman Franklin (Buzz) Holmes encountered the burglary about 2:20 a.m. at the Bargain Center on M-139, just north of Napier avenue.

Arrested after being flushed from under a parked freight car was Harry Lee Bolton, 17, of 1895 Plympton avenue, Benton township. Bolton was booked for breaking and entering and carrying a concealed weapon and lodged in Berrien county jail. He had a paring knife on his possession, officers said.

Brooks said he and patrolman Holmes were on patrol when they saw a car parked behind a building north of the Bargain center. They became suspicious when seeing the lights go out on the vehicle. Brooks said he drove past, turned around and cruised by the building again. Brooks said a man was carrying a display case. The man dropped the case and ran when he saw the officers.

Brooks said he and Holmes chased the person west across M-139 to the freight cars on a C & O spur line. Brooks said the person crawled from under a box car with an object in his hand. On seeing the object, Brooks said he fired his service revolver once in the air and then twice at the fugitive. Brooks said Holmes fired once.

According to Brooks, the object held was a tire iron, believed used to break the front door glass of the store. The display case, taken from a counter near the door was broken. The condition of the watches was not known.

Bolton earlier this month pleaded guilty to a charge of aggravated assault, reduced from an original charge of assault with a deadly weapon, in connection with hurling toilet bowl cleanser containing acid into the face of another youth. He was released on bond to await sentence. The incident occurred Aug. 25 at the Benton Harbor YMCA. The injured youth was treated at Mercy hospital and released.

Smoot has appeared on such television programs as the Johnny Carson, Steve Allen, Mike Douglas and Merv Griffin shows, and the NBC-TV series "The Wackiest Ship in the Army."

The singing and comedy performance is scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

Black Educator Gives Report On Integration

LANSING (AP)—"We in Michigan have begun the long hard journey toward quality education for minorities," says Dr. John W. Porter, acting state superintendent of public instruction.

Porter spoke Friday night at Lansing before the state meeting of the Michigan NAACP.

"As a black man and an American I am deeply indebted to the NAACP for its historic role in increasing the social choices available to black Americans," he said.

Porter cited these gains the NAACP helped engineer in the past 15 years:

"A general improvement in the climate of higher education and its availability to black Americans and other educationally disadvantaged people.

"A considerable assault on de jure educational segregation in the South.

"An emerging and dramatic attention to de facto segregation in the schools of the North.

"A vigorous support at the federal government level for substantial, albeit insufficient sums of money for children enrolled in schools in the poverty areas.

"A growing national consensus on the desirability of integrated public education.

"An increase in housing ordinances and local human relation commissions.

"An increase in job opportunities in areas previously not open to minorities."

But he said there have been these setbacks:

"It has been noted that although there has been a shift in the geographical patterns of the black population, such shifts have not produced more integration, but a different pattern of segregation.

"Although considerable federal assistance has been made available to school districts, the learning gains of the disadvantaged inter-city children have not improved measurably.

"Despite the interests of the NAACP and others in racial integration, we have seen urban school populations becoming increasingly black, in spite of a growing body of governmental pronouncements at local, state and federal levels that declares racial segregation to be contrary to national intent.

AGGRESSIVE THRUST

"There has developed a healthy increase in black identity, and right or wrong, an aggressive thrust on the part of some black Americans for separate but equal facilities and provisions," he said.

"Finally, some have been compelled to conclude that the nation is not yet prepared for a concerted and definitive assault on societal integration in particular, and societal injustice in general."

Gov. William Milliken told the NAACP some "very real barriers still confront us as we move toward a dream of a fully integrated society."

"My own personal view," the governor said, "is that this freedom will not be won by pursuing the programs of the black separatists."

"I believe this freedom will be won only by integration in every aspect of life—in education, in housing, in employment, in public accommodations, and in private clubs."

Fund Cut Protested

Detroit Model Cities Controversy Mounts

DETROIT (AP)—Programs funded by a Detroit Model Cities group have been relegated to financial limbo as a controversy over the group's "no-strings-attached" grants of federal money heightens.

Sylvester Angel, head of the city's Model Neighborhood Agency, said this week cut off all funds for the Citizens Urban Opportunity Fund (CUOF) when the propriety of some of the CUOF's grants was questioned.

An attorney for the group said after a circuit court hearing Friday on the dispute was adjourned that a meeting was being sought with "high level" federal officials Monday.

Details of the grants in question were not made public, but a story in The Detroit News said at least three grants were made to CUOF employees to buy automobiles.

CAR DEMOLISHED
Two of the employees, the News said, did not have operator's licenses, while the third purchased a new Renault that was demolished three weeks later in an accident in Ann Arbor.

Two of the employees involved said they had a real need for a car in their jobs.

He said Mrs. Ruby McDonald, a CUOF director, says she lives in the Brewster Housing Project, which has no bus or taxi service, and assistant probation officer Donnell Riggs said she cannot perform her duties without a car.

OTHER GRANTS

CUOF attorney Herman J. Anderson said he did not know "how many other grants were made or who the recipients were." But the agency has reportedly given federal cash to inner city residents for furniture, clothing, college tuition, back rent and funeral expenses.

The CUOF was set up to make loans or grants to Model Cities area residents for emergencies or other unusual requirements with a minimum of red tape.

An example would be man with a $5,000 a year income who could get a $7,500 job outside the city if he could drive—but who had no car and could not afford a low-interest loan.

SANTA CLAUS AGENCY
Approximately $250,000 is reported to have been given out by the agency, nicknamed the "Santa Claus Agency" by its director, Ralph H. Richardson.

Defending the grants, Anderson said the CUOF intended from its start to give away two-thirds of its funds in grants and the rest in loans or loan guarantees.

CUOF administrator Clyde Cleveland said many grant recipients "live in conditions you could not imagine," and could not get help anywhere else.

He said some were mothers on welfare unable to get funds for furniture since the Michigan Department of Social Services cut off all but emergency welfare furniture fund last spring.

SLEEP ON FLOOR

"They're sleeping on the floor because they have no furniture," he said.

Controversy over the fund cut-off, which was advised by the Chicago office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), increased when Detroit's First Independence Bank halted transfers of CUOF funds and refused to cash several CUOF checks.

The all-black bank's president, David Harper, said he halted transfer of funds between various CUOF accounts on Angel's recommendation.

He said he took the action after the CUOF filed suit in Wayne Circuit Court to force reinstatement of federal funds or cancellation of CUOF's contract with Middle Cities.

"Mister Angel remarked to me about the expediency of transferring CUOF money," Harper said. "If the court should enjoin their funds, it would be a good idea not to make any major transfers until things were settled."

ONLY MAJOR TRANSFERS

Harper said Friday, however, that only major fund transfers were involved, and that "normal checks" would be honored.

Checks for several trainees in a special CUOF-funded employment program administered by the Mayor's Committee on Human Resources Development (MCHRD) had bounced earlier.

"The only reason they bounced," Harper said, "was that the money deposited to cover them hadn't been in the bank long enough to have passed through the clearing house."

"They were paid today," he said.

But other projects, including a $44,000 home repair contract with Satisfactory Construction Co., were halted by the fund freeze.

WORK STOPPED

Lavarne Cobb, president of company, Friday ordered his men to stop work until he is reimbursed by the CUOF. "repairs on seven homes on Detroit's east side were left unfinished as a result."

CUOF attorney Herman J. Anderson said following a hearing before circuit Judge Blair Moody Jr. Friday that whether federal funds for his group are reinstated or not "could determine the fate of the Model Cities program."

He said Judge Moody advised parties to the dispute to seek a meeting with HUD officials to straighten out the dispute.

If no accord can be reached, Anderson said, Moody will rule on the case "by next Friday."

Anderson said he was sending a telegram to request such a meeting.

WAS THREATENED

When the First Independence Bank halted fund transfers earlier, bank president Harper said, CUOF officials "actually threatened me not to heed Angel's advice."

He said the CUOF threatened court action against the bank while the Model Neighborhood Agency was warning them to obey its instructions.

"We were stuck in the middle," he said.

HUD's original advice to Angel to cut off funds was confirmed by HUD liaison man Ron Gatten.

"I advised Angel to cut off funds on Sept. 14," Gatten said. "until questions about the grants were answered."

"In fact I met with (CUOF director) Ralph Richardson, his board members and Angel Sept.
